Federal Workers' Compensation SRC Act Recovery

Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (Cth)

Are your employees covered for workers' compensation under the Comcare scheme?
Have you accepted a claim where a third party was responsible for the injury to your employee?

HBA Legal can help your funds swim back upstream with SRC Act recoveries.

The Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (Cth) contains two underutilised provisions – sections 48 and 50. These provide a way for employers to recover workers' compensation payments made to injured workers in circumstances where a third party was negligent.

We make your funds swim upstream.

The Act's 'recovery provisions' allow employers under the Comcare scheme to:

- Recover workers' compensation payments from damages paid to employees by third parties; or
- Step into an injured worker's shoes and recover monies from third parties in the worker's name.
